

Superstition Mountain Golf and Country Club Promotes Lupe Ibanez To Golf Course Superintendent

Ibanez Moves Up in the Ranks After 13 Years of Service

Gold Canyon, Ariz. (November xx, 2014) – Superstition Mountain Golf and Country Club has promoted Lupe Ibanez to the position of Golf Course Superintendent. Ibanez has been with the club for 13 years and has steadily worked his way up first to Assistant Golf Course Superintendent for the Prospector Course and now into the lead position. Superstition Mountain, located in Gold Canyon, is a premier private golf club and 878-acre luxury gated community that provides an unparalleled golf experience and resort-style amenities for its members.

A dedicated worker, Ibanez brings more than 20 years of experience to his new role as Superintendent. Previously, Ibanez worked under Superstition's current Director of Agronomy, Scott Krout, at Desert Mountain.

"I have had the pleasure of working with Lupe for more than 20 years and am proud to announce his promotion to Golf Course Superintendent," said Krout. "The knowledge and passion Lupe brings to this position makes him a valuable asset to our team."

Ibanez has lived in Arizona for more than 30 years and was proud to become a U.S. citizen in 2007. He currently lives in Phoenix with his wife, Suzie, and the couple's three grown sons live nearby in Phoenix.

Located only 25 minutes from Downtown Phoenix, Superstition Mountain Golf and Country Club is home to two Nicklaus designed golf courses, the Prospector Course opened in 1998 and Lost Gold in 1999. In addition to the two courses, the clubhouse is a favorite gathering place of members for casual and fine dining, and hosts many special events and social activities. On January 1, 2014, Superstition Mountain Golf and Country Club celebrated its return to completely private status.

About Superstition Mountain Golf & Country Club

Superstition Mountain Golf & Country Club is a premier private club nestled at the foot of the Superstition Mountains in Gold Canyon, Arizona, just 25 minutes from Phoenix and 45 minutes from Scottsdale. Two award winning 18-hole Nicklaus designed golf courses make up the centerpiece of this stunning 878-acre luxury gated community featuring hiking trails, village-style neighborhoods and award-winning homes. The 50,000 square-foot Tuscan-inspired clubhouse is the hub of activity for members and guests offering exceptional dining, a Sports Center, pool, and robust wellness program as well as a variety of social activities.

Superstition Mountain returned to completely private status in 2014, after a journey through financial difficulties and receivership. The revitalization was realized as a result of the vision of the owner as well as the Club's prime location, remarkable resort lifestyle, variety of amenities and world-class golf. The club offers both golf and social memberships, for more information call 480-983-3200. www.superstitionmountain.com
