

Superstition Mountain Golf and Country Club Hires New Director of Food and Beverage

Paul Hadreas Brings More Than 20 Years of Management Experience to the Private Club

Gold Canyon, Ariz. (June XX, 2014) – Superstition Mountain Golf and Country Club has hired Paul Hadreas as the new Director of Food and Beverage. Hadreas will oversee all front of the house operations, kitchen facilities and the catering department. Superstition Mountain, located in Gold Canyon, is a premier private golf club and 878-acre luxury gated community that provides an unparalleled golf experience and resort-style amenities for its members.

With more than 20 years of experience in golf club and resort food and beverage management at many well-respected venues, Hadreas brings a great deal of fine dining know-how to Superstition Mountain. Hadreas has grown up in the food service industry coming from a family that owned restaurants in Minneapolis, San Diego and San Jose. Prior to joining the Superstition team, Hadreas held several positions in management and hospitality including; Food and Beverage Manager at the Inn at Spanish Bay in Pebble Beach, California, Clubhouse Manager at Congressional County Club in Bethesda, Maryland and Vice President of Food and Beverage Operations at Troon Golf. Before leaving Troon, Hadreas was honored as the company's only corporate employee to receive its highest honor, the Award of Excellence.

“Superstition Mountain has built a strong reputation with its private club members and the surrounding community,” says Hadreas. “They are committed to continued excellence in customer service and I am excited to take on this role and contribute to the ongoing development of this fantastic club.”

Hadreas is a Club Managers Association of America (CMAA) and Certified Club Manager (CCM). A Minnesota native, Hadreas lives in Phoenix with his wife of seventeen years, Kathy. Hadreas also hopes to start playing more golf as he has taken up a high intensity core-training program to alleviate back issues that sidelined his ability to play the sport he loves.

Located only 25 minutes from Downtown Phoenix, Superstition Mountain Golf and Country Club is home to two Nicklaus designed golf courses, the Prospector Course opened in 1998 and Lost Gold in 1999. In addition to the two courses, the clubhouse is a favorite gathering place of members for casual and fine dining, and hosts many special events and social activities. On January 1, 2014, Superstition Mountain Golf and Country Club celebrated its return to completely private status.

About Superstition Mountain Golf & Country Club

Superstition Mountain Golf & Country Club is a premier private club nestled at the foot of the Superstition Mountains in Gold Canyon, Arizona, just 25 minutes from Phoenix and 45 minutes from Scottsdale. Two award winning 18-hole Nicklaus designed golf courses make up the centerpiece of this stunning 878-acre luxury gated community featuring hiking trails, village-style neighborhoods and award-winning homes. The 50,000 square-foot Tuscan-inspired clubhouse is the hub of activity for members and guests offering exceptional dining, a Sports Center, pool, and robust wellness program as well as a variety of social activities.

Superstition Mountain returned to completely private status in 2014, after a journey through financial difficulties and receivership. The revitalization was realized as a result of the vision of the owner as well as the Club's prime location, remarkable resort lifestyle, variety of amenities and world-class golf. The club offers both golf and social memberships, for more information call 480-983-3200. www.superstitionmountain.com

###

Media Contact: Amber Liptai, Martz Parsons, 480-344-0163 aliptai@martzparsons.com